Pod Ring

The two main elements of this metal clay ring were rolled out, and a bud was formed at each end. It was then sized around a mandrel. The texture was made using silver clay paste, while the inside of each bud was painted with gold paste. Small silver balls were embedded inside the gold buds, and gold balls were embedded in the silver buds.

A Gentle Man of Color

Beads were strung and then glued down one line at a time on this man's torso and head. The designs were not planned in advance; they grew organically.
